

Shehnaz Zakia

She has done MSc (Hons.) in Horticulture from PMAS Arid Agriculture University Rawalpindi with BSc. (Hons.) from University of Agriculture Faisalabad. She is currently working with Pakistan Museum of Natural History as Associate Curator and is responsible to collect, identify, digitalize and curation of higher floral diversity from all over the country. She has conducted field visit for the collection of floral diversity to different parts of the country including Sindh, Baluchistan, KPK, Punjab Kashmir and Gilgit Baltistan. She has conducted many trainings for farmers and teachers on herbarium techniques and application of advanced agricultural technology. She attained many national and international trainings, worth mentioning are Plant Factory Technology from Chinese Academy of Agriculture Sciences Beijing, China, and Determination of activity signatures of 13 key enzymes of carbohydrate metabolism on plant samples treated with beneficial microbes and drought stress from Department of plant and Environmental sciences, University of Copenhagen, Denmark. She has 10 publications in reputed national and international journals.